CAROLE WEINSTEIN INTERNATIONAL CENTER STEERING COMMITTEE
THE CHARGE, COMPOSITION, AND PROCEDURES

September 03, 2013

The Carole Weinstein International Center Steering Committee will determine the Center’s overall activities and the directions of its future evolution. The Committee will work with the Dean of International Education and all others across the campus charged with continued transformation of the University of Richmond into a truly international institution.

The central charge of the Steering Committee is to bring together academic and co-curricular functions and activities, which will take the University from the present stage to the next level of comprehensive and integrated internationalization.

Represented on the Steering Committee will be:

Sam Abrash, Arts & Sciences
Bert Ashe, English and American Studies
Christine Contrada, School of Professional and Continuing Studies
Tom Cosse, School of Business
Kevin Creamer, Boatwright Library
Kimberly Dean, Center for Civic Engagement
Jeremy Drummond, Art & Art History
John Gordon, Arts & Sciences
Aurora Hermida-Ruiz, Latin American & Iberian Studies
Joseph Hoff, Interim Dean of International Education
Yvonne Howell, Modern Literatures & Cultures
Sara Jaax, Office of International Education
Andy McGraw, Music
Mimi Mudd, Student Representative
Terry Price, School of Leadership Studies
Noah Sachs, School of Law
Lori Schuyler, President’s Office
Deborah Sommers, Modlin Center for the Arts
Richard Waller, University Museums
Vincent Wang, Political Science
Abby Ward, Office of International Education

The Steering Committee will meet no less than once each semester. The Dean of International Education will be responsible for presenting to the Committee, for its analysis and comment, a summary of previous semester’s activities and a plan for continued operations.