Restricted programs for exchange students	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Law applicants must have a TOEFL of 100 iBT and these applications must be reviewed and approved by the law school admissions office. • Course numbers ending in "U" are offered by the School of Continuing Studies. These courses may not meet home institution degree requirements, are not available for undergraduates until arrival at Richmond, and will require special approval for registration. Business exchange students are NOT permitted to take courses in the School of Continuing Studies.
Course Registration	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Online course catalog: http://registrar.richmond.edu/catalogs/index.html *please note: not all courses listed in the catalog are offered every semester • If our office receives exchange student application materials by the preferred deadline, students will have the opportunity to be pre-registered for courses. • If the application materials are received after the preferred deadline, course choices will be severely limited as Richmond students will have already registered. Exchange students must have all course prerequisites and are encouraged to take no more than 4 courses per term. We recommend exchange students take at least one course in a subject regarding the United States (e.g., art, music, theater, political science, history, religion, etc).
Special course for exchange students	ESL tutoring is available. An ESL class designed specifically for exchange students is available through the Department of Languages, Literatures & Cultures. Incoming exchange students should have very strong writing, listening and speaking skills as the volume of daily work required for most courses is high.
Duration of exchange	One semester or one academic year.
Services Available to exchange students	Exchange students receive and have access to all the same services as local students. Exchange students are encouraged to join student clubs and sports, which may have a nominal fee. http://activities.richmond.edu/
PRACTICAL INFORMATION
Meal Information	http://dining.richmond.edu/ Exchange students are automatically registered for the Spider Unlimited meal plan (http://dining.richmond.edu/meal-plans/). Students are able to opt out of this meal plan if they are living in UFA apartments or Gateway Village. Students living in these facilities have the option to cook their own meals as this is the only housing where full cooking kitchens (but not utensils) are available. Changes to the meal plan after arrival on campus may be possible depending on the housing assignment.

Housing Information	https://housing.richmond.edu/ Exchange students who meet all stated deadlines are guaranteed on campus housing. Approximately 92% of undergraduates live on campus. Exchange students are not permitted to live off-campus. Furnished short-term off-campus housing is difficult to find and public transportation is limited.
Accommodation over break	Yes, exchange students must apply through StarRez (online application system) by the designated deadline for each break period. Summer housing is an additional cost. Meals during break periods are not included in the meal plan and must be paid out of pocket.
